AMUSING MEMORY CARD GAME

Played With Two Packs of Paste-boards, With Cards to Each Player—Must Remember Prophecies.

This is a memory game and very amusing. It is played with two packs of cards of any sort, but they must be exactly alike. One pack is laid in a heap, face down, in the middle of the table. The other pack is distributed to the players, who lay them, face upward, in rows. Each player should have not more than 12 cards, as it is hard to remember more than that.

Any one can begin by giving either a prophecy or a characteristic—thus: "Who will inherit a fortune inside of a year?" or, "Who will be the first in the room to wear false teeth?" at the same time turning up a card from the center pile.

Whoever has the card matching this takes it, lays it face down on top of the card drawn from the pile, saying: "I will be the first to wear false teeth," or whatever the prophecy may have been.

The next in turn gives a characteristic, "Who has the worst temper?" or "Who is the most unselfish?" turning up another card from the pile. This is matched in the same way, and the process continues around the circle until all the cards are matched. Then the memory test comes. Every player in turn tries to remember and repeat all the prophecies and characteristics that have fallen to his or her share, giving them aloud as rapidly as possible. He is allowed for deliberation on any one only the time while ten is being slowly counted, or ten seconds by the watch. The one remembering the most is the winner.

BLACKSMITH WAS HONEST ONE

Would Not Take Advantage of Farmer Who Had Figured Inaccurately—How He Did It.

A farmer took five pieces of chain of three links each to a blacksmith and inquired the cost of welding them into one chain.

Pieces to be Welded.

The blacksmith remarked: "I charge five cents to cut a link and five cents to weld a link."

"Then, as you will have to make four cuts and four welds the charge will be 40 cents?" said the farmer.

Honest Way of Figuring.

"No, no," replied the man of the snaky arms, "I only make it 30 cents."

How did the blacksmith work this out? See the illustration for the solution.

AIRSHIPS BOOM KITE TRADE

In France Makers of Toys Are Prospering—Clever With Bamboo Frames of Tight Silk.

"We are not taking the interest in flight that we should," said an aviator. "France, where the Wrights are established, to our shame, leads the world in aeronautics, and in consequence the French kite business has grown like an ill weed."

"Kitemakers have sprung up everywhere in France. Their little shops are full of blue bamboo poles, bolts of scarlet silk and blue muslin, and in show cases lie folded kites that are as big, outspread, as an aeroplane."

"In studying the air, one must begin with the kite, as in studying mathematics one must begin with arithmetic."

"The French kitemaker is prospering nowadays, and clever he is, too, with his bamboo frames and curving planes of tight stretched silk."

HIS GAME.

There's a wonderful, funny game I play, And you may if you wish; I'm the One and Only Original Great Monster Bathing Fish! Nurse says it really seems As if that bath held oceans and floods And waterfalls, seas and streams.

I splash and roar and snort and kick And howl and spout and buck, Till nurse thinks it she's left alive She has the greatest luck. Just try a bit of the game yourself. The things you need are few: A waterproof nurse, a great big bath, Strong lungs and a muscle or two.

He Was Willing.

A very small boy, to whom cake was an unknown quantity, was permitted to have as a special favor a crumb of his great-aunt's famous old-fashioned fruit cake.

He swallowed the crumb with relish and asked for more.

His mother gave him a very small piece. "There, dear," she said, kindly. "I won't give you very much of it."

"Oh, I don't mind how much you give me, mother dear," he answered promptly. "I like it."

NICE LITTLE GIRL.

"I hate a nice new frock; I'd rather not be clean; I want to play some more; I think it's awful mean."

"To have to be dressed up; I'll cry out both my eyes; I want to go outdoors And make some more mud pies!"

SOME SLIPS OF SCHOOLBOYS

"Howlers" Which Invariably Raise a Hearty Laugh and Contain Some Unconscious Humor.

The schoolboy "howler" is always popular. The following selections from a large number which were sent in for a prize competition arranged by the "University Correspondent" are excellent examples of the mistakes which pupils perpetrate:

USEFUL BOX FOR FISHHOOKS

So Simple in Construction That Any One Can Put One Together—Keep Lines in Condition.

Every fisherman knows how annoying it is to find the gut lines of his fishhooks dried into all sorts-of angles, as happens when they are wrangled wet around a piece of card or board. To prevent this a New Jersey man has invented a case for the hooks, but keeps each hook separate, and the desired one may quickly be selected without having to untangle it from the rest. This hook box is so simple in construction that any angler may make one for himself. Take an ordinary tin tobacco box, preferably a flat one, and divide it into three compartments by inserting two wooden strips with slots along the top. In the center compartment, which should be as wide as the other two combined, place some material which will hold moisture for a long time and have a strip of the same material fastened to the lid. The hooks should then be laid away with the guts stretched out on the moistening pad and the metal extending into the side compartments.

ONE THING CERTAIN.

"Do you know," shouted the earnest orator, "what to do to the trust?" "No, but I know blame well what they're doing to us!" said a man in the front row.

SOFT, WHITE HANDS

May Be Obtained in One Night.

For preserving the hands as well as for preventing redness, roughness, and chapping, and imparting that velvety softness and whiteness much desired by women Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, is believed to be superior to all other skin soaps. For those who work in corrosive liquids, or at occupations which tend to injure the hands, it is invaluable.

Treatment—Bathe and soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, and in severe cases spread the Cuticura Ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose gloves, or a light bandage of old cotton or linen to protect the clothing from stain. For red, rough, and chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, and shapeless nails with painful finger ends, this treatment is most effective. Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole proprietors, Boston, Mass.

She Lives in Bingville.

A south Missouri paper is carrying this ad: "Attractive woman, not a day over thirty, would be pleased to correspond with eligible man. Not absolutely necessary that he should be young. Would prefer one with property, but one with a good paying position would be satisfactory. The young lady is of medium height, has brown hair and gray eyes, not fat, although, most decidedly, she is not skinny. Her friends say she is a fine looking woman. Object matrimony. Reason for this advertisement, the young woman lives in a little dinky town, where the best catches are the boys behind the counters in the dry goods and clothing stores, and every one of them is spoken for by the time he is out of his short pants. Incorruptible.

The lady of the house hesitated. "Are my answers all right?" she asked.

"Yes, madam," replied the census man.

"Didn't bother you a bit, did it?"

"No, madam."

"Feel under some obligations to me, don't you?"

"Yes, madam."

"Then, perhaps you won't mind telling me how old the woman next door claims to be?"

"Good day, madam," said the census man.

Not an Objection.

"I think he'd like to join your club, but his wife wouldn't hear of it."

"She wouldn't hear of it? Why, I know of half a dozen men who would join our club if their wives couldn't hear of it."

Their Object.

Banks—The women of my town have formed a secret society.

Rivers—A secret society? Surely, that's a misnomer; women don't know how to keep secrets.

Banks—But they know how to tell them, and that's why they formed the society.

Otherwise Hopeless.

IMPROVING MORALS IN CHINA

Influence of Christian Teachings Shown in the Changed Conditions Found There.

"The public conscience is now being awakened upon this aspect of public morality. Last week I was invited to take part in a meeting organized by men who are not directly connected with any Christian church, but who are sincerely desirous of assisting in the reformation of their countrymen. Their purpose was to start an antigambling league, and with this in mind they called a public meeting, which was attended by some hundreds of Chinese scholars and business men, and resolutions were passed in approved public meeting style, approving of a campaign against the gambling vice. Members of the Chinese Young Men's Christian association were asked to assist in the meeting, and to demonstrate by the means of games the possibility of recreation without vice. Suitable addresses were given by prominent Chinese, and the chief organizer of the movement is one of the government education inspectors for the provinces of Kiangsu and Kiangsi. A Chinese Roman Catholic teacher gave a violin solo, a Chinese secretary of the Young Men's Christian association rendered two cornet solos, and a Protestant missionary sang to the gathering. The whole meeting was conducted in so orderly and orthodox a fashion that it was scarcely possible to realize how tremendous a reformation in the whole Chinese outlook upon public life this meeting revealed. Twenty years, even ten years, ago such a meeting would not have been within the realm of possibility. Today we have a class of public moralists arising who have undoubtedly learned from Christianity in their midst the ideals which they are desirous of impressing upon their countrymen."

Autoing and Optics.

"Is not auto driving terribly hard on the eyes?" we asked.

"Well, I guess not," replied the chauffeur, withering us with scorn. "Why, before I got to runnin' a car I was thinkin' o' gettin' specks, my eyesight was that poor I couldn't see the contribution box in church until it was so near past me it was too late to dig for any money. But I hadn't been runnin' that wagon two days till I could see a policeman's little finger stickin' out from behind a tree four miles away. I could even see which way a copper's eyeballs were turned if he was standin' in the shade three miles off. Hard on the eyes! Well, not much! It's the best medicine for weak eyes that was ever invented, don't you forget it."

Back to the Tall Timber.

Alfred—Are you going to pass your vacation at the seashore?

Gilbert—No, thank you. It's the woods for mine this year.

Alfred—Don't like the shore, eh?

Gilbert—Oh, I like it well enough, but it's too risky. I passed my vacation there last year and had several narrow escapes.

Alfred—From drowning?

Gilbert—No; summer girls. Seven of them proposed to me.
